CL&P 2010 Initiatives

Join us on February 16th to hear Lomont White, Senior Energy Engineer at CL&P discuss the 2010 initiatives that CL&P is offering. He will give an overview of the programs for this year for upgrades, retrofits, and new construction.

So much of the building's operating expense is the energy portion of the budget. CL&P has money available to the commercial real estate industry to use to help reduce or offset this expense.

Join your colleagues to hear what is available, the best methods for reducing your energy expenses, how to plan for future expenses that you may incur, or property renovations you would like to do in the coming year.

LOMONT WHITE CL&P

Lomont has been with Connecticut Light and Power's Conservation and Load Management group for nearly a decade. He is a certified Energy Manager and is responsible for development and deployment of the CT Energy Efficiency Fund's commercial and industrial "Energy Conscience Blueprint" new construction program.
